MIKE SUCHER TO PLAY HERE WITH JAZZ BAND

"One day the phone rang," is how Mike Sucher remembers the day last year he was asked to join Tim Eyermann's East Coast Offering, one of the country's best jazz fusion quartets and part of the metro area's musical elite. Sucher, now living in Riverdale, but a long-time Greenbelt resident, and son of Joe and Dorothy Sucher of Lakeside Drive, plays keyboards in the group.

Sucher had been playing with other groups in the area, including Devra and Margot Chapman, of Starlight Vocal Band. He still does an occasional free lance performance. He is also credited with writing a number of the songs played by the quartet and other artists.

A University of Maryland graduate, first majoring in composition, and later graduating in electrical engineering, Sucher began his education at Greenbelt Center School. He is an accomplished musician who also plays string bass and guitar. In fact his earlier musical performance was as a guitarist in a rock band.

Now with East Coast Offering he plays clubs in downtown Washington, northern Virginia, and Baltimore; jazz festivals; and club dates up and down the east coast. He says that this year has been a good one for the band with audiences enthusiastic and their newest album doing well. He looks forward to playing in Greenbelt.

Eyermann's East Coast Offering performs Saturday, April 25 at 2 p.m. at the Greenbelt Fire House, as part of the Greenbelt Arts Center music series. The quartet is led by Eyermann a versatile musician who plays alto, tenor and soprano saxophone, alto and bass flute, piccolo, clarinet and oboe. Bill Foster plays bass and Andy Hamburger, drums.

County Police, Fire Fighters Attack PG Council Over Pay

by James Giese

Prince Georges County Police and Fire Fighters Unions are politically attacking the six county councilmembers who supported a salary freeze for County employees and, in particular, the chair, Richard J. Castaldi. The Prince Georges County Council adopted the freeze, which applies until October 1, 1992, after overriding a veto by County Executive Parris Glendening. Castaldi represents the district within which Greenbelt is located.

A flyer is being circulated by the two unions in Greenbelt and throughout the county that attacks Castaldi for criticizing police and fire personnel for insisting upon a pay raise, when Castaldi had received a cost of living increase just three months ago. The unions further contend that they negotiated revised contracts with the county executive that would have saved the county more money than the six month freeze on cost-of-living increases by reducing their contractual salary increases over the 18 month period of their contracts.

Special state legislation enacted last year enables the county not to honor union contracts during the fiscal crisis resulting from the current recession. The freeze legislation, CB-13, which is based on that authority, sets aside the union contracts.

Castaldi has responded to the charges by stating that he is "giving back to the County my legally-mandated pay raise," and that over a six month period he has had a 7.6% pay decrease resulting from his voluntarily taking a 10-day furlough. Non-union county employees were required to take 10 days off work without pay in order to reduce county expenditures and county teachers were required to take five-day furloughs. Police and fire union employees were not required to take furloughs.

As to the claim of union cost savings, Castaldi calls the argument "smoke." While the new union proposals are "somewhat less than their current contracts," according to Castaldi, he believes the real bottom-line issue continues to be, "Can this government afford any cost-of-living increases?" "The cost of this Council's action is $0, except for the court costs associated with defending our position, since the unions are suing the County."

At the time of the council action, the state legislature had not agreed on a state budget or state aid and new taxing authorities for the counties and the prospect of "doomsday" bud-

At Public Safety Session Council Hears Police Substation Proposal

by Pat Scully

A proposal to establish a police substation for Beltway Plaza and Springhill Lake Apartments with two new police officers, one of whom would be paid for by the property owners and the other out of increased parking fines was considered by the city council at its budget work session of April 7. Also considered was the police department's plan to establish a more problem-oriented, community-focused approach to policing.

Public-Private Partnership

City Manager Daniel Hobbs described a proposed venture that he and Police Chief James R. Craze had been discussing with Rudy Horton of Springhill Lake (SHL) and Fred Wine of Beltway Plaza. Under the proposal, SHL and the Plaza would each donate $25,000 to the city to pay for an officer, to be matched by $50,000 from the city to pay for another officer. The initial proposal is for a one-year trial.

At the time of the work session, Sidney Brown, owner of the Plaza, had agreed to commit $25,000 to the project; the question was still under discussion by the owners of SHL. The city's $50,000 would come from the increase in parking fees and other fines, which are not included in the proposed budget. Hobbs said that fines from parking in fire lanes alone would generate more than $50,000.

The two officers would work in the western sector of the city, which generates the most calls for services, out of a substation to be set up by the merchants at Beltway Plaza. The officers would be chosen for their ability to interact well with the community. The hours for their shift would be determined by the time of greatest need. Craze said that they would look into the possibility of the officers patrolling on foot or bicycle, to increase their interaction with citizens.

Mayor Gil Weidenfeld saw the proposal as an opportunity to use city funds to "leverage" private monies—to get the services of two officers for the price of one. Noting that crime in that area "is the worst in Greenbelt," he urged a one-year trial of the concept.

Misgivings

Antoinette M. Bram opposed the idea of bicycle patrols, calling vehicles "essential" for officers safety. She also raised the possibility that the merchants, or owners of the Plaza or SHL might feel a sense of ownership of the officers and attempt to dictate the scope of their work. Craze and Hobbs both said that this would be unacceptable, that the officers would be Greenbelt police, working solely under the orders of the Police Department.

Weidenfeld expressed some concerns about the operation of the substation, which would be open only limited hours. There could be delays in reporting crimes in progress, for instance, if witnesses went to the substation, only to find it closed, rather than the nearest phone.

Citizens attending the work session found more grounds for concern with the proposal. David Lychenheim said that, while he appreciated the attempt to be creative under budget constraints, the proposal shows a need to "revisit the budget allocation for 30 police." Roy Dahl agreed, reminding the council members that on candidates' night they had all stated their support for more officers. If they still believe what they said during the campaign, the need for officers should be met through the budget, not "creative taxation."

Beltway Plaza owner Sidney Brown will provide $25,000 for the project, Springhill Lake owners are still thinking.

Weidenfeld spoke of the difficulty of balancing the competing needs of all of the city departments, noting that the police are not alone in having deeply felt needs go unmet. Sheldon Goldberg responded that "treating public safety should be paramount."

CARES Budget

Carol Leventhal of CARES and Police Chief Craze presented their departments' budgets, both of which reflect efforts to maintain the current level of services without increasing expenditures. Both Leventhal and Craze also discussed their "wish list" of unfunded items.

For CARES, the primary unmet need is for a full-time family counselor. The position is presently funded for only eight months. Full-time funding would help reduce the waiting list of families that have requested services. CARES has also tightened the criteria for its clients so that it only provides services to Greenbelt residents, not those who work in the city or live in adjacent areas.

Police Wish List

The police budget also reflected understaffed positions. A three-person drug unit that had been proposed for the 1991 budget was not implemented due to the budget crisis; it is not proposed for funding in the current budget. Also not funded was the hiring of a computer specialist, who would get the police records fully automated, and two dispatchers, which would permit scheduling of two dispatchers to every shift.

The goal of hiring a computer specialist is both to get the system fully on line and to "civilize" the record-keeping function, which is currently being carried out by an officer. Once the records are fully automated and a geographic data base of city addresses has been developed, the department will be able to use the computer to aid in dispatching and to analyze patterns of crime, by location and over time. This will help in the goal of doing more in crime prevention instead of just crime response.

Currently, there are four shifts of officers and five dispatchers (seven dispatcher positions are funded but two are vacant); officers fill in as needed so that there are two dispatchers on duty at all times. The need for two dispatchers per shift had been recommended by a psychologist brought in to assess the problems the department had been having with the position. His other key recommendation was to alter the dispatchers schedule so it matched that of the officers' shifts; that change has been made.

Community-Focused Policing

Lt. Daniel O'Neil presented a brief discussion on the department's plan to convert to a more problem-oriented, or community-focused, approach to policing. The approach uses four steps, outlined as the acronym SARA: Scan, to group related crime incidents; analyze the incidents to identify who is affected and underlying causes; Respond, with tailor-made solutions; and Assess to evaluate if the solution is working.

This approach means involving the police, community agencies, merchants and citizens in attacking the underlying problems that cause crime. This can involve such activities as improved lighting or trimming of bushes in an area where there are many auto thefts, community education programs and security reviews, home checks for absent residents and the Citizens Crime Watch. The department already carries out many of these activities, but what is needed, O'Neil stressed, is training for both officers and the community to change the mind set from a reactive to a preventive approach to crime. Letters to the Editor

Thanks

Most people take for granted the services of the Greenbelt Volunteer Department and Rescue Squad and the paramedics. You hear the sirens on a daily basis and don't give it much thought. Recently, we required their services and they were there. They came without question and never gave up. Unfortunately, for us it was not a happy ending.

But we wanted them to know how much we appreciated all their efforts. Thank you from "all of us"—Our thoughts and prayers will go with you the next time we hear the sirens.

Recognition

Four weeks ago, the leadership of Citizens for Greenbelt changed. The new leaders are well spoken, highly regarded Greenbelters who will help to make CFG and the City better. I am confident that Harriett Phelps, Lekh Batra and Clara Kuehn, as well as Tom Stutzman, who is staying on as CFG's treasurer, will keep this thirteen year old organization going strong.

One person deserves a lot of credit for enhancing CFG's image while working to keep CFG together. That person is Bob Zugby. Bob became President of CFG unexpectedly when his predecessor left office in mid-term. CFG could have floundered and panicked. But Bob is not one to panic and CFG did not flounder.

I have been most fortunate to have had the pleasure to have worked with Bob in a number of endeavors or organizations: the arts, community access television, political clubs, and Citizens for Greenbelt. Bob's temperament, patience, and sense of humor guaranteed us that the organization would not take itself too seriously. His ability to analyze issues from a broad perspective assured us that CFG would address issues of controversy in a fair and balanced manner. Bob's ability to work with other volunteers made our time invested in CFG all the more worthwhile. In short, CFG was very lucky to have Bob Zugby.

Misinformation

On behalf of the Greenbelt Homes, Inc. Finance Committee I am responding to the misinformation in the News Review ad by GHI board member Don Comis.

To start, the finance committee was scheduled to meet on Dec. 10, 1991, and Jan. 22 and Feb. 12, 1992. One meeting was canceled without prior notice, but the committee did meet on the other dates.

Second, the finance committee is made up of volunteers. If the members fail to show up without notice after due notice is given, this is the responsibility of the individual, not of the committee. On such occasions the committee members present feel responsible for guarding the assets of GHI and conduct the necessary business of GHI with the treasurer, the General Manager and the Director of Finance, reviewing financial reports to verify that GHI's budget goals have been met and to respond to the requests made by the Board to the committee, with an audit committee member present. What empty room?

Third, the critic of the committee was never present at a single committee meeting, nor did he raise any of his concerns expressed in his ad with us.

Finally, the Treasurer of GHI is chair of the committee and was required to be out of town for two months, so no meetings were scheduled. His absence from Board meetings and his crucial role as chair of the committee obviously escaped the sharp scrutiny of our critic.

We suggest that GHI members act accordingly.

Ben Rosenzweig

No Justification

Mr. Colton's letter of April 16 asserts that it would be difficult for Greenbelt Homes, Inc. (GHI) to maintain a list of homes for sale because not all owners submit the proper paperwork. This does not address the issue of maintaining a list of homes for sale that are on record with GHI.

In order to sell a home in GHI you must first submit an "Intent To Sell" form. If the owner or Realtor neglects to do this, then the unit cannot be sold. GHI cannot be responsible for the owner's or Realtor's negligence. The fact is, there are over 90 intents filed with GHI at this time. GHI gives out a list that contains less than 15% of these homes.

When a member sells their unit in GHI, they have to pay an "administrative fee" of $760.00. They pay this fee whether they use a Realtor or not. When a new member joins GHI they pay a membership fee of $525.00. The members have a right to have their homes listed, and prospective purchasers have a right to know what homes are available. Since GHI is collecting $1,285.00, this is not an unreasonable request.

There is no justification in withholding information from members or future members. By educating sellers as to the current market conditions, and allowing purchasers to see an accurate list of homes available, we all benefit. Owners who haven't filed the proper paperwork have no bearing on this matter.

Call Hoyer

I too share the concern of some of your other readers about helicopters flying directly over Greenbelt during weekdays. Their low altitude, slowness and noise make them a nuisance to anyone staying at home during the day, whether working at home or retired.

Perhaps I can pass on some information for your other readers. I was able to talk with one of Representative Steny Hoyer's staff members about the problem. She said they are contacting the FAA to find out what can be done about this problem. She is Marty Weber of Rep. Hoyer's Landover Office. She will be glad to have additional phone calls and letters pertaining to this problem, as more citizen response will strengthen Rep. Hoyer's case for dealing with the problem of helicopter overflights.

Spotlight On the Arts

Shakespeare's in May

The first three weekends in May there will be performances of "As You Like It." Shakespeare's most delightful and understandable comedy, at the Greenbelt Youth Center. Directed by Dan Orenge, this play draws its talented cast from Greenbelt and the metropolitan area. The production at the Youth Center has required the play's director and technical staff to overcome a number of logistical and physical problems, not the least of which is a wall of mirrors which must be cleverly disguised and the need to pack up after each performance to clear the multi-purpose room for multi purposes. However, Shakespeare was originally performed on stages where creativity and sense of theater were more important than elaborate sets and scenery. There is a special matinee on Sunday, May 17.

William Dunn, III

William F. Dunn III, "Billy", 27, of Ridge Road died April 14, after a four-year battle with cancer.

Born in a Washington, D.C. hospital, Billy spent all his life in Greenbelt. In 1989, a benefit dance was held for Billy at the Greenbelt American Legion. The dance was organized by his late uncle, Charlie Bruce. The hall was filled to capacity, which indicated how much Billy was loved and thought of by his many, many friends. Throughout his illness, his family and many devoted friends were constantly by his side.

Survivors include his parents, Bill and Pat Dunn, brother Raymond, grandfather Wallace Sweeney; also many aunts, uncles, and cousins.

A memorial wake was held on Saturday, April 18 at the Phillips-Kleiner VFW Post in College Park. At the wake, Billy was remembered by family and friends with some humorous stories of his childhood days. A large poster board displayed pictures taken throughout Billy's life.

The family suggests that contributions be made to the Hospice of Prince Georges County, 96 Harry S. Truman Drive, Largo, MD 20772.

Remembering Billy

A star diminished from the sky and now we ask ourselves — why?

As we look back on 27 years, we remember with smiles and now — with tears.

The tears we've shed will not be in vain, for we know now that you're not in pain.

The gallant fight you fought so hard and long, the battle we thought was won and now — it's gone.

You shared your smile, your wit, your charm, and freed animals from cold and harm.

You showered such love to Mom and Dad and Ray and to us all gathered here today. You gave us hope, joy, and laughter too, just being the wonderful, loving you.

We thank the good Lord up above for sending you our way and we pay a special tribute to our loved one here today. There is a new angel in heaven today, an image that will never go away.

A name that may be shared by many but there is only one — "OUR BILLY".

My love always,
"Church Lady"

(Poem read at the service for Billy Dunn.)

Hector Livingston

Hector Livingston, 67, died unexpectedly on Sunday, April 6. He had lived in the 8 Court of Southway with his wife May for more than 10 years.

Livingston was born in Ft. William, Scotland. He came to the United States in 1952, working for a while for the co-op grocery store in Greenbelt where his brother Dan was manager. Hector was a carpenter.

After moving around for a number of years, the Livingstons returned to live in Greenbelt and bought a house.

Livingston had retired from the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission, Maintenance and Development Division, on Calvert Road. Archeology was his hobby; he was a member of the Archeology Association of Maryland.

In addition to his wife, of the home, Livingston is survived by a son, Hector, of Potomac, and a daughter, Margaret Kloetzl of the Eastern Shore.

Simulator Teaches Sobriety to Students

On Friday, April 24, students and adults at Eleanor Roosevelt High School will step outside the classroom for a real-life lesson in the dangers of drinking and driving. As part of Operation Prom/Graduation 1992, the Prince Georges County Public Schools, the Dodge Division of Chrysler Corporation, and Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) will provide a Dodge Drunk Driving Simulator for this special event.

The Dodge Drunk Driving Simulator is a unique vehicle that allows students to experience the dangers of driving drunk without actually consuming alcohol by simulating the delayed reactions of alcohol-impaired drivers.

For additional information, contact Ethel Engrum, Office of Drug Education, 301-952-6049, or Bonnie Jenkins, Department of Public Affairs and Communications at 301-952-6005.

Oring-Nichols

Helen F. Oring and Harvey F. Nichols were married Sunday, April 5 at the Beth Torah Synagogue in Hyattsville. Rabbi Abrams officiated.

The bride's son, Stuart Oring, gave her away. Best man was Matthew Michel, the bridegroom's grandson. Kay Oring, the bride's daughter-in-law was matron of honor and Sue Ann Michel, the groom's daughter, was the bridesmaid.

For the ceremony Mervin Conn played accordion and Selma Clayman sang. Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the main reception room of the synagogue where guests were entertained by the singing of Paddy Bailey.

Some guests came from as far away as California, Nevada and Texas.

Both bride and groom are members of the Season Players, the Gray Panthers and the Greenbelt Golden Age Club. The groom, a WWII veteran having served in the 29th Division of the U.S. Army, is a member of all the veteran organizations. Both are retirees, she from the University of Maryland and he from the U.S. Postal Service.

Mr. Nichols has one child and three grandchildren. Ms. Oring has 3 children, seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Their honeymoon plans include trips to South Carolina's Myrtle Beach and the Poconos.

Long-time residents of Greenbelt, they are residing on Ridge Road.

gets for the state and counties was ever-present. Even now, the county council has before it a budget submitted by the executive that assumes a 20 percent increase in the county's income tax.

Castaldi further notes that "many of our citizens have lost their jobs or have had no raises for the past 18 months," and that the county "will be struggling for the next several years to pay off its existing . . . deficit," referring to a $60 million debt incurred last year when county expenditures exceeded revenues to such an extent that the county was forced to borrow over a three-year period. "I believe this Council made the right decision to say, 'Stop; give us some time to get a better understanding of our financial situation."

Boys & Girls Clubs Warming Up for '92

The Greenbelt Boys & Girls Club's 1992 baseball teams are in full pre-season workouts—refining their skills in preparation for the 1992 baseball season. Practices are generally held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings starting at 5:30 p.m., at Braden Field No. 1. The Club is fielding two teams this year: a 14 & under team (boys born in 1978 & 79); and a 15-year old team (boys born in 1977). There is still room on both teams for additional players. The roster for the 14 & under team closes in a matter of days. The season opener for the 14 & under team will be on or about May 11.

For registration information contact club registrar, Mel Scites at: (H) 441-8689 — immediately. Youngsters must be fully registered and registration fees paid in order to practice or play. For information regarding baseball, the Club's 12 and under (1980 & younger) girls' softball team, or the Club's other programs, call the Club's 24-hour Sports Information line: (202) 310-1066 (it's a local call). Coaches are still needed for the 15-year old baseball team.

Police Budget

ample, officers would devote more time to analysis—looking for problems that create opportunities for crime. They would spend less time on "preventive" patrols, which do not, in fact, prevent crime, said O'Neil.

Council Questions

Council members asked a number of questions about the Kansas City study that O'Neil had cited in regard to the ineffectiveness of preventive patrols. Craze explained the scope of that study and that no effect on crime was discernable from saturation patrols as compared to routine patrols or the total absence of patrols. He did note the unmeasurable psychological "comfort factor" citizens feel from seeing police vehicles patrol their neighborhoods.

Council member Antoinette Bram asked whether the police advocated an automobile-based citizen Crime Watch in neighborhoods with a high rate of violent crimes, particularly involving guns. "I am worried about drive-by shootings," she said. Craze responded, "Crime problems can't be solved by the police. We need community involvement." He stressed that all Crime Watchers are trained that they must report crimes, not confront them. Dorothy Pyles, a Crime Watch member from Greenbriar, pointed out "the difference an 'e' makes—we are vigilant, not vigilantes."

New Mandatory Law For Kindergarten Kids

All children in the state of Maryland will be required to attend kindergarten or an alternative program setting starting next fall. The Maryland legislature changed the law during the 1991 legislative session.

The law lowered the minimum compulsory school attendance to five years of age and affects all children who are five by December 31, 1992, and requires that children attend kindergarten before entering first grade.

The law permits some exemptions. Five year olds may be enrolled in a child care center or Head Start program or home schooling. When appropriate a child may be granted a one year level of maturity waiver.

Children cannot be enrolled in first grade unless they have completed a kindergarten or one of the alternative programs.

A parent or guardian of a child who attended an alternative program must register the child for first grade prior to the opening of school of the year in which the child becomes 6 years old and must provide documentation showing proof of attendance in the alternative setting. Documentation includes date child was enrolled; and number of days child was absent.

A six year old child who moves into Maryland who has not had a kindergarten experience may be enrolled in kindergarten or first grade. The local school system will determine the appropriate grade placement.

Kindergarten registration, for those entering the Prince Georges County Public Schools is April 29 and 30, May 5, 6, and 7.

CITY OF GREENBELT, MARYLAND AMERICANS WITH DISABILITIES GRIEVANCE PROCEDURES

The City of Greenbelt is making every effort to comply with the regulations of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). Any individual who believes that he or she has been subjected to unlawful discrimination on the basis of disability by the City of Greenbelt may file a complaint. Complaints should be submitted in writing to the ADA Coordinator, City of Greenbelt, 25 Crescent Road, Greenbelt, MD 20770. A record of the complaint and any action taken by the ADA Coordinator will be maintained, with a decision rendered within 15 working days of receipt of the complaint. Complaint forms are available at the above address and will be forwarded upon request.

If the ADA Coordinator cannot resolve the complaint to the satisfaction of the complainant, the following procedure has been devised to hear complaints and attempt to provide solutions:

1. The complaint will be sent to the City's in-house ADA Committee. This committee is composed of five City employees representing all City departments;
2. If the complainant remains unsatisfied after the ADA Committee's consideration of the case, the complaint may be forwarded to the City Manager.
3. If the complainant remains unsatisfied after the City Manager's consideration of the case, the complaint may be forwarded to the ADA Compliance Committee. This committee is composed of Greenbelt citizens and is appointed by City Council. Every effort will be made to have a representative of the disabled community on this committee.

The ADA Compliance Committee is charged with establishing ground rules and procedures for hearing complaints from persons with disabilities regarding access to and participation in public facilities, services, activities and functions in the community. Further, the Committee is directed to hear such complaints in public, after adequate public notice is given, in an unbiased, objective manner. All proceedings of the committee will be recorded and maintained.

4. The ADA Compliance Committee will issue a written recommendation to the City Council within 30 days of the hearing. The City Council is the final arbiter of any complaint which reaches the ADA Compliance Committee. A public meeting will precede City Council's decision on the complaint. A determination will be made within 30 days of the public meeting. The decision of the City Council is final.

A record of action taken on each request or complaint must be maintained as a part of the records at each level of the grievance process.

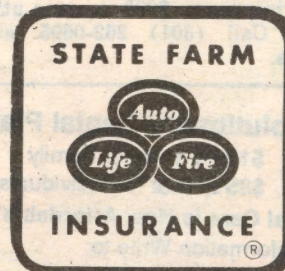

The individual's right to a prompt and equitable resolution of the complaint will not be impaired by his/her pursuit of other remedies, such as the filing of a complaint with the U.S. Department of Justice or any other appropriate federal agency. Furthermore, the filing of a lawsuit in state or federal district court can occur at any time. The use of this grievance procedure is not a prerequisite to the pursuit of other remedies.

If you have any questions on this grievance procedure, please call the ADA Coordinator, City of Greenbelt, (301) 345-7203, or TTD (301) 474-1811.
